June 10th 2006

- It came to me and I told Faye in the am - "I think it is a building God wants me to build..." - What about that is impossible - I don't want to...
- We had been adjusting our diet to eat according to our blood types

June 10th 2006

- Pastor luncheon: Maryville and went to invite Jim Goll to go to Ukraine
- Jamie Galloway: Prohetic-23 at time
- Jim Goll - Two Stunner Prophetic Experiences:

But hum something I was seeing over you was a building and finances for a building. And I felt like you're to build a building. And I don't know exactly what the blueprints are and hum but I felt like the Lord was ah going to grant you not just the grace but the resources ah and that I have given you ah power/ Ah and it's like He's saying I have given you wealth and those resources that And I just see the Lord about to open up the doors in that arena so that this building could be established

And this shall be a house of prayer – the Lord calls it - and it will be a house of prayer for all nations - not just the nation and other countries but it will be a house of prayer

And I see people coming in and getting disciplined and ministered to and mentored and changed and transformed but specifically I just want to speak over that that there would be just a release of the finances of God for you in this arena and that heaven's doors would open up and just favor in the whole political arena as well – I just want to speak to that – that those in authority would have eyes of favor and lips of grace to speak yes and amen to the promises of God that are over you and the promises and the things that are in your heart to do. I just see things that are in your heart to do. It's like the Lord is going to be granting you great grace upon the lips of those who hear and favor upon the eyes that see.

James (Jim) Goll

But I keep seeing the picture - you have really been learning about times and seasons. And you've been learning about when to

I see a cave and when to come in, into the cave and just dwell, and just to be there. And when to almost let yourself go like to the back of the cave - this is all in pictures - in the back of the cave and yet at the same time - when to be content THERE and let others come to the front front and yet at the same time when it is right for you to move to the front of like this cave and to blow a trumpet and to be a voice and at the same time, when to go from outside of that shelter-that cave and go out in that arena, out into the field and do exploits.

So the Lord has really been teaching you about times and seasons, about going in and going forth, sitting down – getting renewed – being refreshed – retooled

You've been in just a whole season where it is like, I see the gears and it's a recalibration.

You've been in just a whole season where it is like, I see the gears and it's a recalibration. You've been in a season. I don't know, maybe about a 3 year period of time or something where its been recalibration, It's been happening in your own life. And, but I feel like that season is like coming to, you know, a close and the gears are just really meshing. Again there has been a lot of recalibration. It's been in your own life. There has been some almost chemical issues or something like your own physiology. There has been something of this dimension. . . And the Lord has been actually teaching you about natural and spiritual rhythms. And I'm talking about again, how much to do, how much not to do, when to do, when not to do, when to rest, and when to run. Ah, those are really important words: It's R & R. You've been learning about resting and running. Resting and running. Resting and running.

You've been learning about resting and running. Resting and running. Resting and running. you rest and you run. And being content even when it appears as though that others don't fully understand your seasons. And you are learning just to really be contented.

But there has also been some kind of recalibration that's been going on in your physiology. And it, you know, it just feels to me, it's something about chemical levels, blood type something, in that area, anyway. And but it is like a thermostat on a house, and it goes and it gets adjusted and I see, you know, a thermostat anyway and it's a house. But I feel like you're like coming to a end, there in the season, and you're coming back to the front of the cave, And you're going to have a wisdom word of perspective, to be able to come a bring now to leaders, and they are going to want to hear from a father who has learned how to be content in different seasons.

Does that make some sense?
