PROPHECY FOR PASTOR RUSS AND FAYE AND NCF - As given Through Dan Cheatham, October 1990 2nd “Pillar Prophecy”

Father God, we just lay hands, right now, on Pastor Russ and Pastor Faye. Father God, in the Name of Jesus, I thank you. They've been obedient to you, Lord God. They've been obedient to you, in the Name of Jesus. Pastor Russ; the only thing the Lord's been giving me while I've been here this weekend, just seeking the face of God for you, is that because you've been obedient in the area of finances, because you've been obedient not only in the area of; your personal finances, but in the area of your church finances, because you've been obedient, you've been obedient, hallelujah, in the area of being content and living a personal life and a church life of efficiency and without frills, without all the things like that, the Lord says, now you're in a position, in a position to be used of God and to obey God to the very "T". You're in a position where God can say, "do this" and immediately you can do it. God's going to say, "Do this," and immediately your church can do it. Whatever God calls your church. And God says in the days to come and the years to come that God's going to call you and your church just to... God's just going to speak to you and say, "Do this," and you'll do it. I'm not talking about long-term programs, I'm talking about short-term God says, "Do this" and you'll do it. Hallelujah. And I just see the Lord, that you're in a place of flexibility. You're in a place of total abandonment to the Holy Ghost and total abandonment to the will of God, hallelujah. And there's an ability, there's a freedom, there's a freedom, there's a freedom, hallelujah, that God's going to use. Whereas some others are still having to stand in the area of finances and having to struggle in the area of finances. And indeed God calls some people to take financial leaps of faith, but the Lord says you're going to be able to respond just like that (he snaps his fingers) just in the twinkling of an eye, in just a moment, in just a flash then God speaks, you're going to be able to meet the needs in the body of Christ and you're going to be able to do what God says for you to do without hindrance, without servitude, without bondage to men, hallelujah. Hallelujah, hallelujah.

And sometimes, you've felt like well, Lord, we could have done this. I could have done this. Others do this and others got that and everything. But the Lord keeps dealing with you to do it the slower way because God is maneuvering you and is putting you and your church in a strategic position, a strategic position for this last time revival. You're in a strategic position. Thank you, Lord Jesus.

And the Lord is going to use this church...I see this church...I see a front line, I see a front line, I see all these soldiers up on the front line. And then I see a supply corps, I see a supply corps. I see these people running, running to the front lines with water bottles and I see these people running to the front lines with ammunition. And then over here on this side of the body of Christ is a broken place. There's just broken places where they're running out of ammunition and equipment to fight their battle. And the Lord says, "New Covenant, run to the rescue, run up on the front lines. Take the message, take the message, take the equipment. Take the reinforcements. Take the supply." And I just see that you're doing that. And that part of the front line of God is fine. And then, over here all of a sudden there's a break, there's a weakness and the Lord says, "New Covenant, go-do this. Do this. Touch this one. Minister to that one. Do this...do this." And I see that the Lord is going to cause you to weave in and weave out and to sort of like the tide comes in and comes out. And you're going to go in and touch this church and you're going to minister to this church and you're going to affect this part of the body of Christ. And then, that will last for a season. And I see that the Lord is just going to use you. And a lot of times the people of God think that once you start something, you have to continue on that wave-length forever. But the Lord says He's going to give you and your church grace to be able to know when and how long to get involved in something. Hallelujah. When to supply and when to drop back, hallelujah. And to look for other ground and other soil to sow into.

But I just see that the Lord is going to use you in a real flexible way. And you're going to have to be in season and out of season. You're going to have to be always on an alert status. God is calling this church to an alert status. God is calling this church to an alert status. Hallelujah. God wants this church to stay ready, listening for the trumpet..listening for the trumpet..listening for the trumpet. And God shall blow a trumpet here and God shall blow a trumpet there and it will be quiet for a while, then God will blow another trumpet. And you'll rise to the occasion, says God. Your church will always rise to the occasion. So, compare not your church with any other church. Compare not your vision with any other vision.

Continue in your vision but be on call, saith God. Be on an alert status, saith God--24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year, says the Lord. Be on call, be on alert status.

Hallelujah. Because you're going to be like a military airlift command. You're going to be like an airlift command, hallelujah. You're going to bring relief here where there is a weakness and where there's a breach in the body of Christ. And then you're going to bring relief there and then you'll back up and bring relief back there and then you'll go forward and bring relief there. But the Lord says, he's going to make you a relief corps. He's going to make you a military airlift command. He's going to make you a supply line...a supply line. And I'm not just talking about -finances, but I see God using you like a Red Cross. Hallelujah. Like a Red Cross, in a supportive role in the body of Christ. Hallelujah. Hallelujah, Lord Jesus.

saith the Lord. Know when the tide goes out and know when to cut the cord, saith the Lord, and to And there will be times when other people's visions will wrap you for a season, Pastor Russ. Other people's visions will wrap you for a season, and you'll feel such a part of their vision. And that's God speaking to you to get involved and that's God speaking to you to reinforce, hallelujah, for a season. But the Lord says, be careful to listen to My voice and know when the tide comes in but also know when the tide goes out, let people go. Know when to cut cords and let ministries go. Not in a forsaking way, but just know how, know how, and know when, saith God. Don't get into bondage. Don't let any man suck you dry, but know when-when and how and how long, saith the Lord. Hallelujah. For I say unto you that there's nothing wrong with when the tide goes back out, saith the Lord. There'll be times you'll sense when the tide is going back out and that's not your job anymore. That's not the ministry of this church anymore. And the Lord will speak a peaceful word and say, "Didn't I remind you? Didn't I remind you there's a time and season and purpose for everything?" says the Lord. "For I'm the God who flows in seasons, I'm the God who flows in seasons." Oh God, thank you Lord. May it be so, in Jesus' name.

May I exhort you? And I humble myself before you right now, but may I exhort you about something? Not in a condescending way or anything, but I want to encourage you guys. The first night I was here, during the night when I was up in the middle of the night, what came to me, what seemed to come to me over and over again and I just felt that God was relating it to you guys. The outstanding character in the story of the prodigal was the father. He was the father. The story of the Prodigal Son is not the prodigal son. It's not about the prodigal's brother. It's about the faith of the father. The Lord told me this just to encourage you guys. Some are early bloomers and some are late bloomers, but because you have a covenant with God, bloom she will. Amen? Bloom she will. I just kept on thinking. Some children choose to be sensible. Other children in a time in their life have to come to their senses.

Amen? Amen? And I just want to encourage you guys and in no way mean to make you feel embarrassed or awkward, but I want to encourage you, Pastor Russ and Faye. You've done a great job. And you've got a covenant with God. Be like the prodigal's father. The prodigal's father didn't say, "Oh no! I can't let my son go." The prodigal's father stood and said, "No big deal. He's going to learn some of the things the hard way." And you know something? The prodigal's father had so much assurance that he was in covenant with God and that his children would turn out right, that the moment he saw the kid way off over yonder, he was already looking in faith for that child. "I know my child's going to show up anytime. My child's going to show up anytime, back to his senses." Amen? And so I want to encourage you guys. I want to encourage you guys that you have a covenant with God. Amen? Everything is going to pan out...everything is going to turn out. Just rest in the Lord. Rest in the Lord. God knows how to deal with each of our children. Amen? Thank you, Father God. We agree with you, in the Name of Jesus. Bloom they will. Bloom each child will. It's not a matter of blooming. It's a matter of whether it's early or late blooming, glory to God or mid-blooming. But bloom they shall. Hallelujah, Come to their senses, every child of ours shall come to their senses. God, one way or another. In Jesus' Name, you will bring them to that place of sweetness and intimacy with you, Lord, and total obedience and abandonment and surrender to Your will for their lives. In Jesus Name. And I agree Father, I pray Father, that you encourage Pastor Russ and Faye, Father God, in Jesus' Name.
